

TELEPHONE: MUSEUM 3372
TELEGRAMS: THEOSOPH. LONDON

THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY IN ENGLAND AND WALES

23 Bedford
19, TAVISTOCK 'SQUARE,
LONDON. W.C.1

6-7-20

Dear Friend,

Allow me in the name of your fellow members, to welcome you most heartily to membership of the Theosophical Society.

I enclose your diploma and a copy of an Address sometimes given by Mrs. Besant to newly admitted members.

From the experience of many of us, I feel sure that membership of our Society will afford you ever-increasing opportunities for spreading and emphasizing such aspects of the Brotherhood of mankind as may be near to your heart.

Each member of our Society works in his or her own way as a messenger to the world of the great truth of Brotherhood and the message is as much needed in the world of thought as in the world of action, in the home as in public life, is as potent through silent example as in active exhortation. No matter how you may be circumstanced it is always possible for you to become, in the true sense of the word, an "active" member of our movement, and I am glad that, through the outward act of membership, you have strengthened the position in the world of those to whom you have been, doubtless, long united in other ways.

I am always glad to make the acquaintance of new members who feel inclined to come and see me and are able conveniently to visit Headquarters for the purpose. Perhaps you are one of such: if so, please pay me a visit, but, if you can, make an appointment beforehand, as chance visitors are very apt to be disappointed.

If I do not have the pleasure of a visit from you, I hope you will not mind my asking you how you came to join us; whether for instance it was through a book or a lecture or a letter in the Press or a chance conversation? I ask this question as it may help efficiency of propaganda and save misdirection of effort if I know the relative value of the different methods we employ to reach the public.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

H. Raille Weaver