Dear Mr. Roerich,

I am sending herewith a bill for the arrears of your subscription to the Society. The annual subscription has to be paid towards the beginning of each year. Perhaps you have not been reminded of it. You are an old and useful member of the Society and we would not like to lose your membership for default.

I shall, therefore, feel happy if you kindly remit the amount of arrears against your name and allow us to continue your membership as heretofore.

If you have to say anything in the matter, kindly drop a line.

Our Society has, as you know, taken up the work of compiling the Annual Bibliography of Indian History and Indology for some years in place of the Quartely Journal. This publication is appreciated very much by Research Scholars in India and abroad.

The Government of India has also agreed to purchase 250 copies of every issue of our publication.

We give this costly publication priced at Rs. 15/- or so free to every member. This is certainly an appreciable return for the subscription of Rs. 5/-- only that we charge.

It is hoped you will help the society by remitting the entire amount of arrears, at an early date.

Your sincerely
R. G. Gyani
Treasurer
