Dear Sir:

A serious situation affecting the school is presented by its lack of funds, it not having received any portion of the $16,000 annual allowance for educational purposes.

Due to this lack of sustenance, it has not been possible to take care of necessary expenses. The necessary advertising of the school cannot under the present circumstances be attended to. There are a multitude of other items, such as a new catalogue which, from the very nature of the school, must be provided for.

It seems to us that the personal litigation could just as well be conducted without sacrificing the school, and to that end we would be pleased to confer with you or your attorneys with reference to allocating some portion of the $16,000 towards the support and maintenance of the school.

Very truly yours
