My dear Mrs. Lichtmann:

It was a pleasure to see you the other afternoon and to hear all the interesting things you had to say about Dr. George de Roerich. Thanks so much for your letter of January 4 summarizing your thoughts in regard to his possible participation in the linguistic research for an international auxiliary language. When I have a chance to take up the question with the linguistic advisers of the International Auxiliary Language Association, I shall be happy to do so. It will take some little time to get round to it.

It must be a pleasure and privilege to work closely with such a fine scholar as you describe Dr. George de Roerich to be.

With renewed expression of pleasure in our hour together, I am

Sincerely yours,

ALICE V. MORRIS
