Letter of Lord Stamfordham, Private Secretary to His Majesty, King George V.

Buckingham Palace.

15th February 1930

My dear Ambassador,

I have laid before the King the Medal, struck by the "Amis du Roerich Museum" to commemorate the 40th anniversary of Professor Nicolas Roerich, which the French Association have been kind enough to offer for His Majesty's acceptance. I am desired by the King to beg that Your Excellency will be good enough to convey to the President of the Association His Majesty's sincere thanks for the Medal, which it has given the King much pleasure to receive.

Believe me,

my dear Ambassador,

Yours very sincerely.

STAMFORDHAM.

His Excellency,
The French Ambassador.

My dear Ambassador,

The medal struck by the "Friends of the Roerich Museum" kindly forwarded to me by the French Government, has been received, and I need not tell you that I am greatly honoured by possessing it, and shall treasure it amongst my possessions. It is a beautiful piece of work, and I value it for that reason, as well as for the considerations which prompted the givers to send it.

I should be very glad if you would convey my thanks to them.

Yours sincerely,

Ramsay MacDonald

Letter of Secretary to His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales

St. James's Palace, S.W.

February 24th, 1930.

My dear Ambassador,

Sir Godfrey Thomas is away in Morocco and in his absence I have to thank you for your letter of February 13th in which you enclose a Medal to be presented to the Prince of Wales by the French Association of the Friends of the Roerich Museum.

I shall not fail to submit the Medal to His Royal Highness on his return, and in the meantime, I should be most grateful if you would convey the Prince's thanks to the Association and inform them that he will deeply appreciate their courtesy in sending him this memento of a very interesting occasion.

Yours sincerely,

(signature)

His Excellency
The French Ambassador
