

FLAMMA

September 3rd, 1937

Dr. George Chklaver,
12 rue de Poitiers,
Paris VII,
France.

Dear Sir

Your name is among the first proposed by our esteemed Honorary President, His Excellency, Nicholas de Roerich, for honorary membership in Flamma, the Association for Advancement of Culture, which my brother and I recently have founded under the revered Protectorship of Her Excellency, Madame Helena de Roerich.

In the course of my own work at Roerich Museum during the past few years chiefly in connection with Urusvati, the Master Institute, and Living Ethics, I have been privileged to survey at the discretion of my valued friend, Sina Lichtmann, voluminous material records of the founding and growth of many movements such as the Banner of Peace, and your name is already indelibly recorded in the written and unwritten history of the Roerich Institutions as one who has contributed magnificently in thought and action toward our common goal.

We are sending you under separate cover a copy of our first publication - a booklet by Richard Rudzitis of Latvia - entitled "Culture." Within its covers you will find also a brief outline of the nature and purpose of Flamma.

We will be greatly pleased to receive your endorsement of our aims through acceptance of Honorary Membership in Flamma.

Most sincerely yours,

Dudley Fosdick.
