My dear Sir,

The plan of Professor Nicholas Roerich to have an International Flag to protect cultural institutions of all kinds appeals to me very strongly. War is so horribly destructive not only of human life but of civilization's best treasures of human imagination, inventiveness and skill that anything which can be devised to protect these must surely have the cordial support of all who value the creations of the gifted of every nation.

Believe me to be with esteem and best wishes,

Yours very sincerely,
