My dearest Mother and Father,

I regret that my daily messages materialize in letter-form but once a week, but trust my constant thoughts are carried to you on the wings of the spirit.

My dearest parents and teachers, let me express how great is the power of your love and teaching for it guides us in all our deeds. I constantly strive to purify myself to be a worthy receptacle of such uplifting currents.

Your letters are translated by our dear Radna and the contents fill us with greater love and energy, and your words awaken or strengthen our spiritual fervour. Know how your spirit of ever-giving love and teaching is always worshipped by your devoted pupils. You would be happy to see the constant growth of spirit in your disciples, except perhaps for Porosona who occasionally harbors the desire for her mother's kisses and embraces (in person).

The world of spirit that you have so beautifully opened to us offers us eternal joy, and in prayers we strive to be worthy of the Rays of our beloved "Teacher".

Last evening we sat in love and reverence to receive the Holy teachings. How much I look forward to these Saturday night sances, and with what happiness we rise into the realms of spiritual unity and joy. Each vision of you, our guides, thrills us, and we send with renewed force our love and strength to our beloved teachers.

You have probably observed the vision concerning Frances. As she has been sincerely striving, I felt the need of helping her understand better the visions, and in that way help herself. I explained to her <sup>to-day</sup> my interpretation of the visions in contrast to hers which were understood in a very small limited way. She accepted everything in a fine and big way, and I sincerely look forward to her progress and her coming nearer to the circle. There is a much better understanding between Frances and ourselves, <sup>now</sup> and we all feel a closer tie and deeper bond. I shall continue to lovingly help her, and I anticipate soon a closer harmony and unity in the circle. The Lichtmans are so close to us and we all work together so well. I expect to be able to say the same of Frances shortly. You may be happy, dear parents, as all the links in the chain shall be soon firm and unbreakable.

When I read of your difficulties in Paris I am distressed and wish we could help. Nevertheless I know you shall be conquerors, and soon your moments of trials shall be over. I pray for the day to see you on the steamer, and rejoice in your arrival in "His Country".

These days are very busy for us at the school and each moment is filled with activity. I know Lichtmans and Logan write all details so it is not necessary for me to repeat.

I am very happy these days as I am given energy to work for the "School", and every bit of myself is given to the School and "Master's Service". Our days are filled with miracles, and with the daily dreams and visions of the Lichtmans our fairy-story never lacks new interest and new vitality. Our hearts are ever filled with emotions, and the spring of love, for our beloved mother and father, never ceases flowing.

In spirit I remain forever
Your devoted Poroma.

Dearest Father

Please note this constitution and send us your reaction about it. We have not accepted it and are awaiting your advice. Do you feel it conflicts with the awards of the R. M. and some of its other activities? There are three young inexperienced men beginning this in cooperation with us, one of which is Mr Shrack who is attracted by yourself and the teaching. One of the others is a pompous young man who says absolutely that there is an enormously wealthy man behind this Academy idea in connection with museum who has already offered $500 fellowships + much more if things go right. We are puzzled what to do - many feel the idea very good and in time the young inexperienced men might grow up or be replaced by more representative men for such a plan.

Should this be <sup>connected with</sup> of the R. M. I thing it can be arranged that the trustees of the museum could be in majority and in that way hold the power to insure its proper dignified direction.

They are also devotees of Keshav
and told about this rich man behind them - they are attracted by the spiritual to be expressed through creative arts.

Please advise and cable
if possible.

Yours devoted Nettie.
