11th March 1971.

My dear Ramakrishna,

Thank you for your letter of the 19th February 1971 and for your good wishes to my husband for the Medal of Honour which he received from the Calcutta Art Society. Actually this Medal of Honour is very rare especially as it is given by one of the oldest Art Societies in India. It was an exhilarating experience to see Calcutta again. In spite of all its turbulent political activities the Art and Culture of this wonderful city goes on just the same as it ever did. We both found it most stimulating to meet the people there, the standard is very high and it refreshed us immensely.

We are both so glad to hear that your wife is quite well. Migraine is not incurable and you should try to approach some first class Ayurveda doctor and see what can be done. If you fail there then you may try Homeopathic doctor. Migraine is absolutely curable and I have seen it happen with either of these two schools of medicine.

We both send our love and best wishes to you both. We shall be in Bombay on the 23rd or 24th of this month. In any case please telephone me on the 23rd if possible and we can make some arrangements to meet.

With our affectionate greetings,

Yours sincerely,

(Mme. DEVIKA RANI ROERICH)
