Dear Madam,

Vijaya Laxmi and I were overjoyed to read in the papers the award given to Dr. Roerich by the Calcutta Art Society. Please extend to him our hearty congratulations. The cycle of good luck began with your receiving the Phalke Award followed by the Art Society's award to Dr. Roerich. We feel sure that there will be many more such occasions this year.

I have read from the papers reports of your visit to Calcutta to receive the award and to renew contacts with film people there. I am sure this must have proved a very exhilarating visit to you both and a thrilling experience to all your friends, fans and admirers. I hope by the time this letter reaches you, both of you are back in Bangalore.

Vijaya Laxmi underwent examination by the E.N.T. specialist who found everything normal. Her eyes were also pronounced to be of the same condition but for the myopia she has. She was sent to a neurosurgeon, who has determined her case as one of migraine attacks. There is no cure as such only medicines to provide relief. She is quite all right at present.

We hope you and Dr. Roerich are keeping excellent health.
Kind regards,

Yours affectionately,

R. Ramakrishna
