My dear Devika ^{from} Malimpong

Please

forgive me for not having written to you sooner. I have not been well & so could not write and acknowledge your lovely gift. Thank you ever so much -
it's a most useful
present & I am taking quite unusual.

I am sure you and your husband are enjoying your holiday.
We look forward
to see you both
again.

My husband wrote
you giving Delhi
address. I hope the letter was forwarded to you. He asks you not to 'worry' but enjoy yourself whole heartedly.
Our very best wishes
to your husband.
With love & all
the best,
Ever yours

My dear Devika

How sweet
of you to have sent us some more fruit. Thank you so much. You must forgive me for not having written & thanked you for the fruit you so kindly sent last time.

We have all been on the sick list, particularly
my husband & mother, & I had a most anxious time. Now, Mr Reddy is better but needs to be carefully & has to take

as much rest as possible.
Matter too in the mind tho' she still keeps rather weak.

We do hope Mr Rerich
will soon be his old self again.

Matter sends her love
to you & best wishes to your husband.

With my love &
all the best to you both.

Yours affly,
Huatahla
