

Dear Mr. Wint,

Your kind thought to send the book of Russian Poetry is greatly appreciated by us. Of course I shall anticipate ^{reading} to read ^{ing} the new book on Tolstoy's life.

To me each book carrying a new thought is like a ^{fragment} piece of (the pattern to) a great Mosaic which is being build by our individual and general consciousnesses. Sometimes it may appear even chaotic but in the end of our journeys it will turn into a magnificent Edifice of mutual efforts of (our) humanity towards Beauty!

I began to read a most interesting book by Dr. Gustave Jellay (Director of the Institute of Pathology - chique International.)

His theory of Being is turning Darwin's "Descent of Man" and "The Origin of Species" into interesting relics of an old superseded mode of thought - according to J. D. Bessford.

Gustave Geley assigns a psychic cause as the origin of Variation and he replaces Bergson's famous "élan vital" by a concrete energy and defines that energy as an influence forming all the varieties of cellular tissue out of one primordial substance and under the impulse of a directing Idea. (Of course this theory lies at the foundation of all Oriental Philosophies.) I would call that energy - psychic energy. Also I would not mind

We look forward to your proposed ~~next~~ visit to our mountains. It will give us real pleasure to have your company again and to resume our interesting Talks on various topics.

With kindest regards

from all of us

Yours sincerely

Helena Barrett
