Dear Madame Roerich

Before I start out for Lahul I do just want to write a line to thank you tremendously for all the many kindnesses I have received at your hands and those of your very delightful family. I shall long remember my visit to you, and especially the afternoon when I saw some of your husband's handiwork, which I hope will inspire me to do better things than my usual poor stuff while on my journey. The pony man seems quite punctual + satisfactory, and the colossal amount of food your household has provided to supplement my rations will keep me well fed all the time - too well - so I fear. Kindest regard + a thousand thanks to all. Yours very sincerely T. W. Somerville

Dear Madame Rosrich

I write to thank you very much indeed for all the kindness and hospitality you showed to me when I visited your delightful home.

You were all so exceedingly kind to me, and besides my memories of the lovely place you live in, there will always be in my mind a very pleasant and enduring memory of a home of happiness and culture and all that is best in life. I was delayed a day on the way down, owing to the rain, but I hope I can successfully postpone my Medical meeting in Delhi until Saturday evening. We had perfectly fine weather as soon as we passed Sultaipur, and lovely views of the Dharmasala range yesterday.

With renewed thanks for all your kindness, I remain

Your very grateful friend

T. H. Lowcock.
