Dear Mr. Strauss:

I have to acknowledge your letter of the 24th instant. I am rather worried to hear that you have not received my November instalment of L 20/- sent to you through my Bank. I am keeping the Second of Exchange with myself, and will forward it on to you as soon as I shall hear from you in answer to this present letter of mine.

A draft value Frs 3000/- was forwarded to you in December, and must have reached you by now. You can rest assured that I shall do my best to reduce the amount on my Account with your Firm.

Please also let me know about the safe receipt of the several remittances sent to your Firm by the Institute / these payments were made both from here and through our New York Office /.

I hope you are forwarding me Peppe's Mongol Grammar / just published /.

Sincerely yours,
