Dear Friend,

Cordial Greetings and Best Wishes from Mrs. Rao and myself to you and your wife for Happy Dasara and Deepavali in advance. We trust you are both well.

I read with great interest and appreciation the tributes to your Father by Mr. Rajamannar and others. Mrs. Rao and I had the honour and pleasure of paying our respects to him at his beautiful house at Naggara some years ago. He was very kind and gracious. I remember his giving us cherry juice. It was so nice and delicious that I coaxed myself to believe that it was an occasion when I might forget my good manners and ask for another glass of the juice and to receive it !

Father gave us also a couple of Prints of his paintings and autographed them. We have them in our house now and enjoy seeing them and with respect.

If ever you happen to pass my house, may we request you both to honour us with a visit, however brief. Of course we shall be delighted if you can find time to have tea with us which is generally about 5 p.m.
With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

M. W. Anderson
