Dear Dr Fogel,

The foremost subject in our minds at present is Dad's health, and I'm happy to say I can report on that very joyously. The first few days in Sweden were a little hard for him with all the new experiences and friends that we came in contact with, but after resting regularly for most the days he could meet people and be with friends for the rest of the time. Our stay in Göteborg involved a lot of visiting, but with the regular rests Dad took it pretty good. He took an eleven block walk in Göteborg very fine and it even made him feel a little better to know he could do it. All our walks are slow, however, and we never overdo it. Last Friday we arrived here at Leksand which is very peaceful and quiet. All the days here have been spent resting and walking except for Monday when we toured the neighboring territories with some people here that invited us to do so. We walked a little in the woods and up a hill of about 100 ft., and all worked out well. Dad has never been tired since we came to Leksand. However, he did have a little trouble with his stomach on Sunday, but we were careful and went to the hospital and found it to only be the food he was eating that didn't quite agree with him.

I have had a lot of time to read and study so far. I have finished "Many Mansions" and, needless to say, found it very enlightening. It sure makes it easier to face all the struggles of life when the eternal goal is sought and to use life's struggles and disappointments advantageously to raise one's self toward that goal. I am always reading "Leaves of M's Garden", and with every page my appreciation of its giver becomes even greater. I have now finished 60 pages and ~~don't~~ do not leave very many passages go without understanding them. I have just started "Horse of Fulfilment" and have just reached Baltar.

The pen we purchased in N.Y. is turning out very fine. It is exactly the finess I wanted.

Thanking you again for everything and hoping everything is well in Stamford, I am.

Sincerely Yours,
Don.
