Mr. Louis L. Horch, President,
Roerich Museum,
310 Riverside Drive,
New York City.

My dear Mr. Horch:

Mr. Appleget is no longer in this office, and the letter which you recently sent to him has come to me. The file here indicates the nature of the correspondence to which you refer as taking place in December 1927, and I am sorry that there is nothing additional that I could add to what has already been said. Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., is not inclined to take up the problem of individual museums, and for that reason it would not serve your purpose to go into the matter further here.

Sincerely yours ,

Arthur W. Packard.
