My dear Miss Lichtmann:

The charming bag came this morning and I hasten to thank you and to show my delight and appreciation for your kind thought of me. You have been so lovely to me and I appreciate it so much, but do not seem to show it in very definite terms for which I hope you will make allowances and know that I do appreciate your generosity and your interest in me. In turn I admire and love you my dear and think you are quite a wonderful person. It is inspiring to know such people as you, the Horches and Miss Grant. Give them all my love and thanks Mrs. Horch for the bag.

It was good of you to give us such a delightful lecture. Everyone seemed to enjoy it so much and expressed pleasure in hearing it and the subject was handled so skilfully.

Mrs. Beattle who is now the treasurer seems to think that there is a group of her friends who will take a more vital interest in the Roerich Society and I hope this will take place and that the society will grow and increase. I think the art exhibitions at the Sears Robuck will be of interest. It will be great to have them fresh from the Museum and I hope they will prove a source of awakening interest.

I felt much embarrassed the way the supper was handled for we wanted to entertain you instead of its being the other way around. Love and thanks to you dear friend,

From Ada Rainey
