

June 10, 1940

Mrs. Dudley Fosdick,
Suite 1114, Carnegie Hall,
7th Ave. & 57th St.,
New York City.

Dear Mrs. Fosdick:

I have your kind letter and am indeed sorry to note the new emergency that appears to have arisen. Unhappily, I cannot provide at this time the additional funds suggested.

I incurred on Friday certain obligations to Miss Rock, as you know, and that is all I can do just now to help along the line indicated.

It seems to me likely that if the proceeding now started by Miss Rock succeeds, our mutual interests will be protected quite as well as they would be by the more expensive procedure proposed. At all events I cannot defray the expenses of both.

Mrs. Campbell called to-day and she, I think, sees the situation much as I do.

Sincerely yours,

(signed)

J.G. Phelps Stokes