Dear Sir,

Two years ago, I received from you information about a "Tibetan-English Dictionary" by Georges de Roerich which was then awaiting publication. I was hindered then from obtaining a copy at the reduced price then asked. I should be glad if you would inform me as to where and at what price the dictionary may now be obtained.

I am, Yours sincerely,

J Howard Jeffrey

Dear Sir:

Your inquiry regarding the TIBETAN-ENGLISH DICTIONARY by Dr. George Roerich and Lama Lobzang Mingyur Dorje was forwarded to our headquarters in India, which address we gave to you at that time.

We can only do the same now, and hope that you receive your reply in due time.

Of course it is possible that your letter may have been lost in the mail since there were several avalanches and other impeding circumstances in that locality during the past year.

As we informed you in answer to your earlier inquiry, however, there has been much more delay in the actual compiling of this work than was anticipated, due to expeditionary work and difficulties impossible to foresee.

If you care to write again to India, the address which you have is correct.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.
